CLOSING THOUGHTS

CLOSING THOUGHTS ON THIS PUPPY

The Illustrator: This pup is the smaller of the two "twins". She is pretty laid back compared to the rest of the litter. She has a follower playing style and will also play independently. She enjoys a sleep pile nap time and which sometimes makes crate training a little challenging. Pups that are a bit shy can bond very strongly with their new families and it is important to push socialization and confidence building quickly. Do not wait until 16 weeks to go into public areas and socialize. You will have problems if you wait. Figure out her favorite treats and have them with you everywhere!! Let this little pup be a sponge and learn to love everything.
